

COMPLIANCE COMPONENT

DEFINITION
Name	Incident Response Policies, Procedures and Training
Description	Incident Response Policies and Procedures help communicate to the State's IT community and interested parties (external agencies and the public) about discovered security threats and breaches. Policies and Procedures should help agencies record and document the following: • Contact information for the recipient of the incident response report; • Incident description; ○ Date, Time, and location where the incident occurred ○ How the incident was discovered ○ IP Address/Host Name/Physical location of the breach ○ What data was compromised ▪ Type or types of data compromised ▪ Sensitivity of data/parties affected ○ Actions taken to mitigate the damages ○ Other parties contacted regarding the incident • Contact information for the person reporting the incident ○ Name, title and signature of the reporting official • Time and Date incident was resolved (if applicable) • Method of incident resolution Incident Response Training teaches state employees about their responsibilities in the event of a security incident.
Rationale	Agencies handling confidential information need to have policies and procedures in place to assist them when responding to security incidents. Incident response training is associated with the assigned roles and responsibilities of organizational personnel to ensure that the appropriate content and level of detail are included in such training.
Benefits	• Provides responders with a comprehensive and structured response to a security incident. • Helps to minimize the damage from security incidents • Builds knowledge base
